Third Quarter 2021

President's Letter

Looking back and moving forward

2020 was a rough year. We all had to suspend our in-person meetings and adapt to the “new normal.” Fortunately, the “new normal” is ending and 2021 looks like a much better year. We’ve all had the chance to get vaccinated; I hope you have done so. After I got my vaccination, I felt much relieved and began to return to normal activities. That too is what I see for the CRA. The CRA officers and committee chairs have accepted an extension of their term in office through this year’s Annual Meeting in October. Many chapters have already held their first in-person meeting in 2021, some as early as April. I hope that all remaining chapters will re-start their activities and meetings soon. We all need to adapt again by returning to our regular meetings and operations.

CRA Mid-Year Meeting (MYM)

Every year, our CRA officers, committee chairs, Area vice presidents, and past CRA presidents gather for this meeting. The purpose is to discuss recent CRA business and plans for the upcoming year. This year’s MYM was held May 22-24. It was a combination meeting; a little over half attended in-person and the rest by Zoom. The meeting worked well and we were blessed in getting six Chevron management personnel to give presentations about the corporation, its relationship with the CRA, and the economic/political environment.

CRA Annual Meeting (AM)

Our 2021 AM will be held as an in-person event. It is scheduled for October 17-19 at the Sonesta Hotel at Los Angeles Airport (LAX). In addition to the attendees mentioned above for the MYM, all CRA Chapter presidents are invited to attend the AM. This will be a very important meeting since we had to cancel the 2020 AM. The AM host committee has done a tremendous job in planning this AM. It looks like costs will be under budget. And they have planned an unprecedented special event: a tour of one of Chevron’s largest facilities, the El Segundo Refinery. After the tour, there will be a reception and dinner at the refinery’s recreation clubhouse.

At the conclusion of the AM, we will install our new CRA president, Brad McCullough. He will conduct the President’s Planning Meeting later that afternoon.

I'm looking forward to seeing all of you again at the AM. I hope you can make it.

Chapter meetings

As mentioned above, I hope that every chapter can recommence holding their periodic in-person meetings. It's essential to get back to normal operations as soon as possible. We all need to have a positive attitude in restarting. In order to assist chapters with their meetings, we are establishing a Speaker's Bureau that will provide chapters with a list of CRA and Chevron speakers who are willing to give a presentation at local chapter meetings. More information will be announced soon about this new program.

We all need to rekindle our friendships with our former co-workers and chapter members. I wish you the best in restarting.

Racial injustice, a year in reflection

In response to a convergence of events that included the spread of COVID-19, an economic downturn that led to massive unemployment and social unrest growing out of the death of George Floyd and other Black Americans in the United States, we made a commitment to address barriers to racial equity.

Our commitment started by listening. Last summer, Chevron employees and leaders shared their emotions, perspectives and vulnerabilities on internal dialogue platforms, in town halls, and in sponsored forums organized by our Black Employee Network. We heard employees express experiences and painful events and engaged in important discussions on race that were often uncomfortable.

Our approach to addressing barriers to equity also included a $15 million pledge to support Black employees and the Black community. This commitment is based on four strategic pillars: education, job creation, talent and leadership development, and community and small business partnerships.

Chevron brands its first CNG retail site

Chevron U.S.A. Inc. announced the Allied Clean Fuels Plaza retail station in Napa, California, has been rebranded as its first compressed natural gas (CNG) site. Chevron expects to rebrand or open more than 30 CNG sites by 2025.

The announcement underscores Chevron's commitment to providing affordable, reliable and ever-cleaner energy by increasing renewables and offsets in support of our business. It also builds on Chevron's previously announced investments, such as ventures with California Bioenergy and Brightmark and our Adopt-a-Port initiative with Clean Energy Fuels, to market renewable natural gas for use in vehicles operating on CNG.

"We are excited to announce our first Chevron-branded CNG station," said Mike Vomund, Chevron vice president of Fuels, Americas Fuel & Lubricants. "CNG is part of the portfolio of technologies and solutions Chevron is investing in to reduce the carbon intensity of our products and operations. And our move into the retail CNG space strengthens our commitment to leverage the entire value chain in producing renewable natural gas and offering it to California drivers."

Chevron Advocacy Network (CAN)

This last year has been a year of immense change, but Chevron's continued commitment to our energy transition strategy and actions is one area that remains unchanged. At Chevron, we believe the future of energy is lower carbon. To help with this energy transition, Chevron has launched an Energy Transition website, which details our approach and provides resources on Chevron's strategy for a lower-carbon future.

New Energy Transition Resources

To achieve our energy transition goals, our approach is centered on actions and investments in three core areas where we believe we can deliver measurable progress for today and the future by:

- Striving to reduce the carbon intensity of our operations and assets
 - Increasing the use of renewables and offsets in support of our business
 - Investing in low-carbon technologies to enable commercial solutions

We firmly believe these actions will make the energy industry and global supply chains more sustainable, while helping other industries and customers use our resources to build a cleaner energy future.

We encourage you to visit our Energy Transition page where you will find the resources needed to strengthen your energy acumen including: Brochure: Our Role in Advancing a Lower-Carbon Future, Chevron's Climate, Methane, and Innovation Policies, and the 2021 Climate Change Resilience Report.

YOUR PANDEMIC HEALTH RECOVERY PLAN

- The past 12 months have weighed on us all - mentally and physically. Now's the perfect time to assess the damage.
- Become aware of important ways to get fitter faster.

STEP ONE: EVALUATE YOUR WEIGHT

Find out if you are at a healthy weight with the body mass index (BMI) calculator and your waist circumference.

STEP TWO: SQUARE YOUR MEALS

An eating plan that helps manage your weight includes a variety of healthy foods. Add an array of colors to your plate and think of it as eating the rainbow. Dark, leafy greens, oranges, and tomatoes—even fresh herbs—are loaded with vitamins, fiber and minerals. Adding frozen peppers, broccoli or onions to stews and omelets gives them a quick and convenient boost of color and nutrients.

Balancing Food and Activity for Healthy Weight | Healthy Weight | DNPAO | CDC

STEP THREE: CHALLENGE YOUR FITNESS

Physical Activity

How much physical activity you need depends mostly on your age.

- Adults age 65 and older need at least 150 minutes a week of moderately intense activity such as brisk walking, at least two days a week of activities that strengthen muscles, and activities to improve balance such as standing on one foot.

Physical Activity for a Healthy Weight | Healthy Weight, Nutrition, and Physical Activity | CDC

STEP FOUR: WHERE YOUR HEAD'S AT

There are times when being older is a solid advantage: A study by the CDC last summer found that people age 65 and older reported significantly lower rates of anxiety, depression and stress-related disorder during the pandemic than younger folks. Still, it can't hurt to check in with yourself.

Older-Adults-Care-for-Yourself.pdf \(cdc.gov\)
Mental Health and Coping During COVID-19 | CDC

STEP FIVE: CHECK IN ON YOUR HEALTH CHECKUPS

By mid-pandemic an estimated 41 percent of U.S. adults - about 105 million people - had postponed in-person medical care, be it routine or emergency, according to the CDC. Elective surgeries were mostly shut down, routine health screenings had dropped by more than half, and millions of people simply stayed away from doctors' offices. Here's what to ask yourself if you, too, avoided routine care this past year.

- Am I taking my important daily medications? Refills needed?
- Three catch-up medical visits to schedule
 - Cancer screenings
 - Vision maintenance
 - Dentist
